

Expire dates?! (Taken post from make4fun forums)

Posted by Zenya - 10 Jun 2010 06:46

Ok this cuts me alittle strange that such a expensive program (i have diamond) Has an Expire date the program COSTS 99 dollars USD and for me it fairly expensive for a program.... and While it says it expires aug 3rd 2010,

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it only sent me to support.audio4fun.com with a login and password they made where i seen this info, doesnt work like before how we would send a New Protection Number and your order number and they would Re-enable this. i didnt get any of that and no way of doing it myself on this Website.

I haver sent Admin (forums admin) the same thingas they request all folks to do in a PM and i havent gotten anything back yet., Yes forums alittle slower perhaps but, No where on their website says your VCS Diamond would Expire?! it also is labeled as never expire software on very popular sites like giveaway of the day, this really is sour business practice and i run a business and know its sour.....

=====

Cut n paste from my post back in make4fun.com

=====

Re:Expire dates?! (Taken post from make4fun forums)

Posted by tiphanie - 11 Jun 2010 07:39

Please send your email directly to

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it for further help on getting back the Serial Number.

=====

Re:Expire dates?! (Taken post from make4fun forums)

Posted by avsp46904 - 27 Jul 2010 10:06

Ive similar problems and sent the email to them but still not reply to date. What can I do? Ive been only using Audio Voice Changer software for only a few months

=====