

Need help with my license key please

I had VC Diamond on my last computer but, when I tried to re-install it on my new computer it kept saying "your license is invalid. please register your license key to continue using." it still works perfectly fine on my older computer still. Any idea on what I can do to fix this or is there a way to get a new license number?

Regarding your problem, kindly be informed that reinstalling the software after a change of PC's configuration requires license resetting to get through software registration.

In this case, your license has been successfully reset. Please try again.
